DEFINING THE TERRITORY

Making sense of the engagement landscape in the UK: Perspectives from the National Co-ordinating Centre for Public Engagement

www.publicengagement.ac.uk

What is public engagement?

Public engagement describes the myriad of ways in which the activity and benefits of higher education and research can be shared with the public.

Engagement is by definition a two-way process, involving interaction and listening, with the goal of generating mutual benefit.

Different purposes...

INFORMING

Inspiring, informing, involving

CONSULTING

Actively listening to the public's views, concerns and insights

COLLABORATING

Working in partnership to solve problems together, drawing on each other's expertise

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT WITH RESEARCH

Actively involving the public in the research activity of the institution

ENGAGED TEACHING

*Developing teaching activities which positively impact on the community, and enhance students'
engagement skills*

The engaged university

KNOWLEDGE

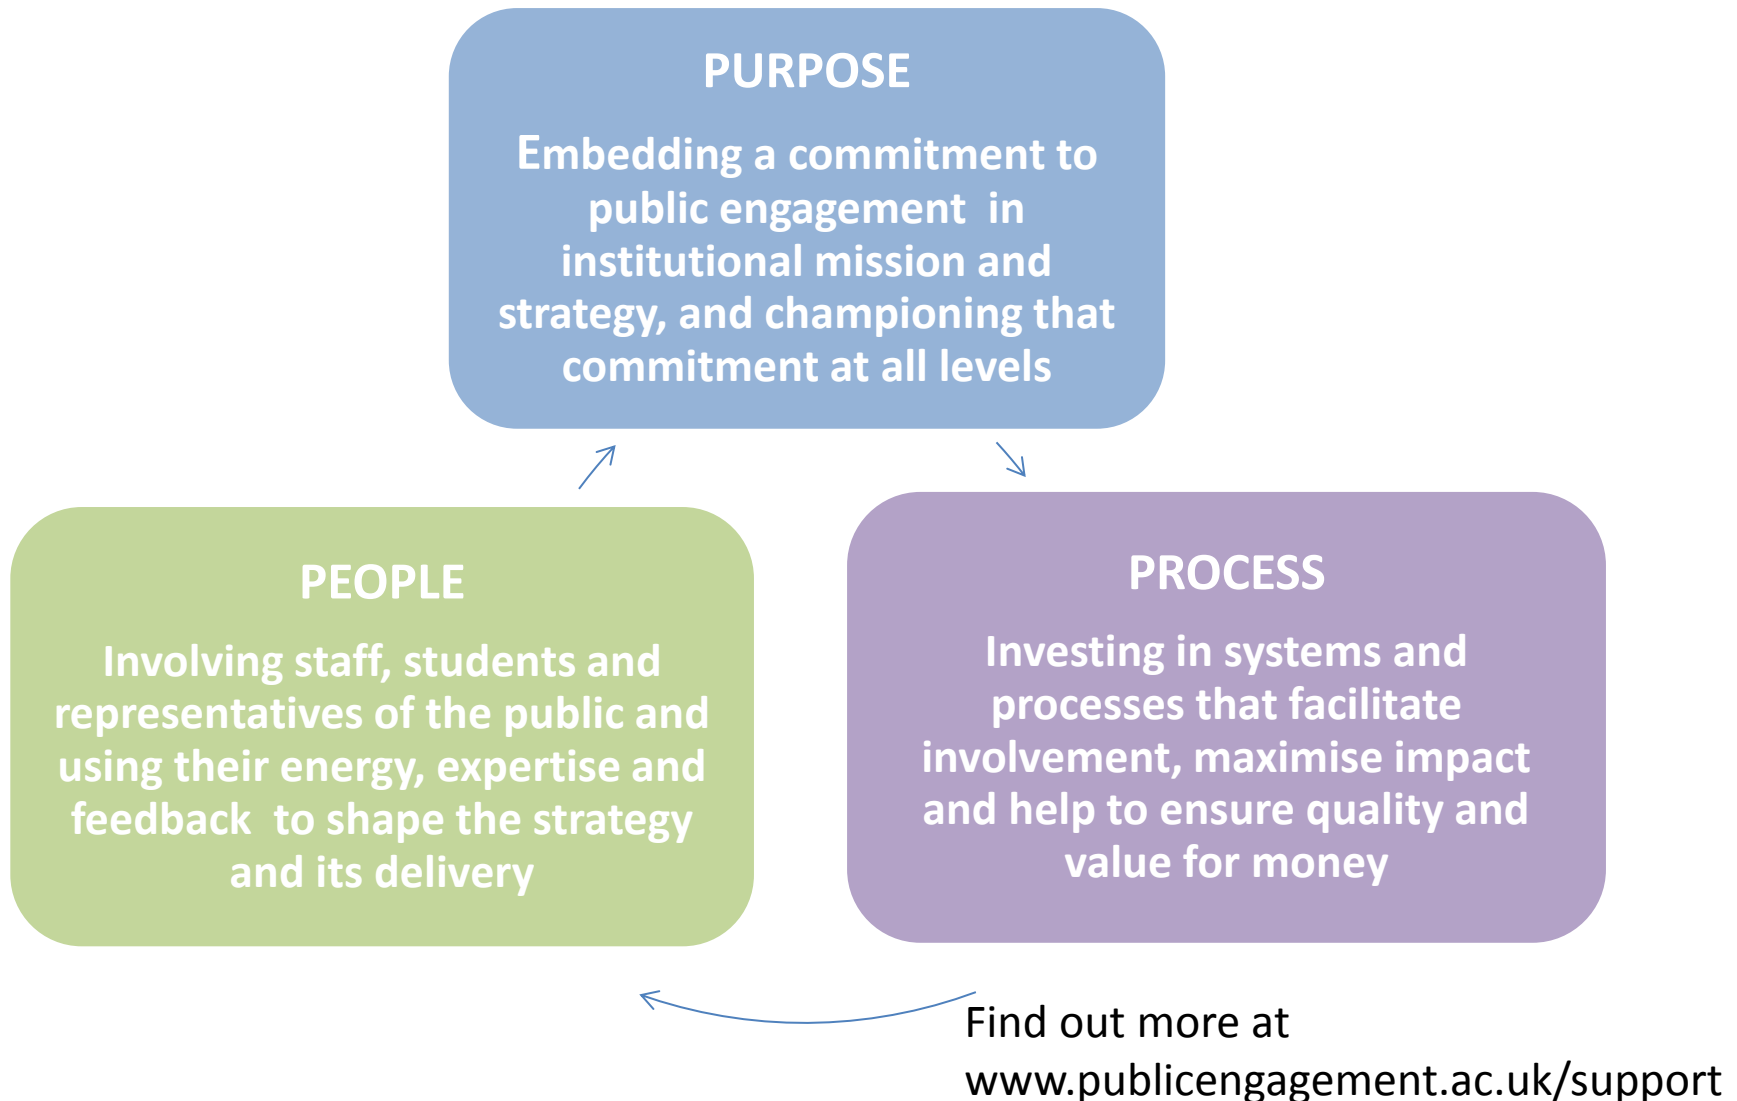

EXCHANGE & SHARING

Increasing the two-way flow of knowledge and insight between the university and wider society

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Seeking to maximise the benefits that the institution can generate for the public

WORKING WITH BUSINESSES

Changing with the Times: Promoting Meaningful Collaboration between Universities and Community Partners

MR. DEAN W. STRICKLAND

DR. JACQUELINE S. WALSH

What is the role of the university?

A robust economy leads to a greater standard of living and improved social programs.

Industry is an important community partner. Universities are increasingly being called upon to become economic catalysts.

Canadian universities- changing with the times

Conference Board of Canada (2012) cites that improved university-industry collaboration as a key ingredient to promote innovation and competitiveness.

OECD (2012) reports the need to close the commercialization gap between academic and applied research.

Jenkins (2011) states that “Canada needs a fundamentally new approach to building public-private research collaboration in areas of strategic importance and opportunity for the economy.” (p.E3)

Transforming the culture of the university

“Canadian universities lag behind their US counterparts in generating technology transfer between academic research and companies. With innovation and productivity at the forefront of the Canadian public policy agenda, it is crucial that governments create the right incentives for university researchers to pursue research that can eventually be commercialized.”

C.D. Howe Institute (2013)

Spending on Research in Canada

Commercialization of Research

- Appears to be increasing pressure(s) for greater commercialization of research.
